

The Navy Corps

International Maritime is a ubiquitous part of the history of mankind and is active in almost all countries of the world.

Some landlocked countries do not maintain seafaring in the traditional sense but maintain the naval tradition on their lakes and rivers.

Generally speaking, naval comradeship is therefore an international component of most countries and, for this reason, it forms an integral part of the Lazarus Union as well.

Having this in mind, in some Member States, naval comradeships have been founded.

Furthermore, countless members within our Lazarus Union are gripped by the spirit of seafaring and can be proud of having undergone seafaring training.

This was also the reason for the founder of the Lazarus Union to approve an own internal Navy Uniform for the Lazarus Union.

The Lazarus Union

The Lazarus Union has its roots in 1973 and then further developed (with some rocky detours) in 2010 to the Lazarus Union in its present form and structure.

It is, according to its possibilities, a world-wide Charitable Organization for all who need help, friendship, comfort and care.

The main areas of focus are:

- Joy to other fellow humans
- Disaster support
- Support for handicapped humans
- Support for the homeless

With more than 22.000 members in more than 120 countries and on all continents (as of June 1st 2020), the Lazarus Union is currently the largest organization of all "Lazarus Groups" in the world.

Organization in General Consultative Status as NGO with the United Nations-ECOSOC in Vienna, Geneva and New York

The Command

Every successful organization has and needs an effective leadership team. For the Navy Corps of the Lazarus Union, the following comrades have taken over the responsibility:

Prof. Dr. Lothar Gellert, Adm CSLI NC
General Plenipotentiary of Lazarus Union

Marcus Reichenberger, VAdm CSLI NC
Commander of the Navy Corps

Dr. Thomas Draxler, RAdm CSLI NC
Deputy Commander of the Navy Corps

The Uniform

You will receive the permission to wear the internationally accepted Navy Corps Uniform according to your rank, which will be fixed by the Command of the Navy Corps in accordance with the applicant's function and his grade of training.

Promotions can be achieved:

- After an appropriate training
- by commitment
- by active participation

Awards

Awards cannot be "purchased", they are presented for special performances. The Navy Corps and the Lazarus Union however have several possibilities, to show their gratefulness for specific performances in the meaning of the Mission Statement of the Lazarus Union.
